

Public Activity, J. Quast (2012–13)

Panel discussions

Effektiver Schutz vor Hochwasserrisiken im Oderbruch, panel discussion on invitation of District Administrator G. Schmidt, Letschin/Oderbruch, March 01, 2012

Wir lassen das Oderbruch nicht absaufen, panel discussion on responsibilities in water management and water body restoration, Theater am Rand Zollbrücke October 18, 2012 (related press article by Steffen Göttmann in the Märkische Oderzeitung, Oderland Echo, October 20/21, 2012)

As scientific advisor of the Ministry for Environment, Health, and Consumer Protection (MUGV) Brandenburg, participant at the centre stage of open councils on flooding in the Oderbruch, in the Müggelspree area, in Beeskow, and in the Upper Rhinluch:

May 08, 2012, Golzow/Oderbruch

November 22, 2012, Hangelsberg/Müggelspree

December 04, 2012, Letschin/Oderbruch (expert discussion on invitation of the FDP parliamentary group of the Brandenburg state parliament)

March 08, 2013, Beeskow (on invitation of the MUGV, after consultation with the Mayor of Beeskow)

October 16, 2013, Fehrbellin (Regional Syndicate Upper Rhinluch)

Interviews

Oral history interview on the Odra flood 1997, incorporated into the play ODERBRUCH by Tobias Rausch, under exploitation of interviews with numerous contemporary witnesses (investigations: Cathleen Bär, Renate Borowczak, Michael Müller, Laura Steinau), co-production of the Deutsches Theater Berlin and the Neue Bühne Senftenberg, premiere Februar 10, 2012, DT-Workshop, Deutsches Theater Berlin (print version: Aufland Verlag Croustillier, 2012)

Interview as expert in the feature broadcast „Kulturlandschaft Oderbruch“, Deutschlandfunk, October 22, 2012, Müncheberg, transmitted January 18, 2013

Oderbruch sucht Zukunft am Wasser - Pumpen hilft nicht gegen nasse Felder – Der Hydrologe Joachim Quast über Binnenhochwasser, die Komplexmelioration in der DDR und den Nutzen von Feuchtgebieten, Märkische Oderzeitung, Wednesday, March 14, 2012, Frankfurt/O., Ina Matthes (full-page interview with illustrations)

(State of December 20, 2013)